

EXHIBIT 7

THE PETITIONERS PROVIDED EACH EMPLOYEE A COMPLETE WAGE NOTICE AT THE START OF THEIR EMPLOYMENT

45. The proposed civil penalties for count three are unreasonable.
46. Petitioners provided each employee at the start of their employment, written notice in English and any other language spoken by the new employee as their primary language, of the employee's regular hourly rate of pay, overtime hourly rate of pay, the amount of tip credit, if taken and regular payday.
47. However, the New York State Department of Labor alleges that Petitioners failed to give each employee a complete wage notice at the start of their employment during the period of December 3, 2012 through December 6, 2015.
48. The Petitioners provided the New York State Department of Labor with all payroll records for the periods requested, including these periods.
49. To the extent that the New York State Department of Labor did not receive sufficient records for these periods, it failed and refused to request these records from Petitioners.

THERE SHOULD BE NO INDIVIDUAL LIABILITY

50. The New York State Department of Labor has incorrectly named Petitioner Bhupinder Singh Sikka a/k/a Gary Sikki individually in the Order to Comply No. 16-00335.
51. Mr. Sikki is not as Employer as defined in Section 651.6 of the New York State Labor Law.
52. Based on the foregoing, individual liability for Mr. Sikki is unreasonable and not appropriate.
53. Based on the foregoing, Petitioners are entitled to an order: (1) requiring the Respondent to provide Petitioners with a copy of the New York State Department of Labor's

Docket No. PR 16-144

Order to Comply with Article(s) 19 of the Labor Law, OTC #16-00335, issued October 11, 2016.

THE COMMISSIONER OF LABOR,

Respondent.
-----X

Respondent, Commissioner of Labor, by her attorney, Pico Ben-Amotz, Counsel, Taylor Waites, J.D., Law Clerk, of Counsel, states as follows in answer to the Petition:

1. Upon information and belief, admits the allegations contained in paragraphs numbered "1" through "3" of the Petition.
2. Upon information and belief, denies all factual allegations contained in Paragraphs "4" through "53" of the Petition.
3. Denies the allegations contained in the remainder of the Petition and any attachments thereto, objects to any consideration of the materials attached to the Petition unless and until they are entered into evidence in a hearing in this matter, and defers all legal arguments made or implied therein for rebuttal at a later time. See Board Rule § 66.5(b) (stating that "[the answer] shall contain a specific admission, denial or explanation of each of the material facts alleged in the Petition") (emphasis added).

4. In accordance with Board Rule § 66.5(b), the Respondent hereby states that:

a. Annexed hereto as Exhibit "A" is a copy of the Respondent's Investigative Narrative Report dated "February 17, 2016", as well as the Investigative Contact Log (annexed hereto as Exhibit "B"), as produced by the Respondent in the ordinary course of business, which summarizes the Respondent's investigation in the present matter, the contents of which are incorporated herein and made a part hereof by reference, explaining the Respondent's actions in this matter to that date.

b. On October 11, 2016, the Respondent issued to the Petitioner(s) an Order to Comply with Article 19 of the New York State Labor Law, (hereinafter "Minimum Wage Order" in which the Respondent found the Petitioner(s) in violation of Labor Law Section "652", 12 NYCRR, Part "146", for failing to pay $19,528.30 in wages to the Claimant(s), and ordered the Petitioner(s) to pay $19,528.30 in wages to the Claimant(s), along with $2,656.23 in interest at the statutorily required rate of 16% per year, liquidated damages in the amount of $19,528.30 and a civil penalty in the amount of $19,528.30 for a total due and owing of $61,241.13.

c. On October 11, 2016, the Respondent issued to the Petitioner(s) an Order to Comply with Article 6 of the New York State Labor Law, (hereinafter "Wage Order" in which the Respondent found the Petitioner(s) in violation of Labor Law Section "191" for failing to pay $490.00 in wages to the Claimant(s), and ordered the Petitioner(s) to pay $490.00 in wages to the Claimant(s), along with $81.62 in interest at the statutorily required rate of 16% per year, liquidated damages in the amount of $490.00 and a civil penalty in the amount of $490.00 for a total due and owing of $1,551.62.

d. On October 11, 2016, the Respondent issued to the Petitioner(s) an Order to Comply with Article 19 of the New York State Labor Law, (hereinafter "Penalty Order") in which the Respondent found the Petitioner(s) in violation of various provisions of the Labor Law, and ordered the Petitioner(s) to pay $5,800.00 in Civil Penalties (spread out over "3" counts).

5. AS AND FOR A FIRST AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

No Records - Reasonable and Valid

a. The Respondent's determination that wages were due and owing to the employee(s) and its determination of the amount of such wages owed were reasonable and valid. Such determination was in full compliance with all applicable statutes, case law, and prior decisions of the Industrial Board of Appeals ("the Board").

b. The Labor Law provides, in relevant part, that when an employer fails to keep adequate payroll records, "the employer in question shall bear the burden of proving that the complaining employee was paid wages, benefits and wage supplements." N.Y. LABOR LAW § 196-a (Consol. 2015). In Angello v. National Finance Corporation, 1 AD3d 850 (3rd Dept. 2003), the Appellate Division, Third Department interpreted Labor Law § 196-a, together with Board Rule § 65.30, to mean that "the burden of disproving the amounts sought in the employee claims fell to [the employer], not the employees, and its failure in providing that information, regardless of the reason therefore, should not shift the burden to the employees." Id. at 854 (emphasis added). Relying, in part, on the aforementioned statute and case law, the Board held in Matter of the Petition of L.R.H. Supermarket, Inc., PR-05-035 (2008) that "[w]here employee complaints demonstrate a violation of the Labor Law, article 19

(minimum wages), DOL must credit the complainant's assertions and relevant employee statements and calculate wages due the employees based on the information that they have already provided. The employer then bears the burden of proving that the disputed wages were paid." Id. at 4.

c. The Labor Law places an affirmative obligation on employers to "establish, maintain, and preserve...contemporaneous, true, and accurate payroll records" and "keep such records open to inspection by the commissioner or his duly authorized representative at any reasonable time." N.Y. LABOR LAW § 661 (Consol. 2015). The required contents of these records are listed in Labor Law § 661, and the Minimum Wage Order for Miscellaneous Industries and Occupations. See 12 NYCRR §142-2.6.

d. In Garcia v. Heady, 46 AD3d 1088 (3rd Dept. 2007), the Court held that: "The record reveals that petitioner failed to maintain records of the hours claimants worked and/or to provide them with wage stubs, thus compelling DOL to employ an alternative analysis to ascertain the number of hours that claimants worked and, in turn, imposing upon petitioner the burden of demonstrating the unreasonableness of DOL's calculations." Id. at 1090 (citation omitted).

e. The Board has ruled In the Matter of Mohammed Aldeen and Island Farm Meat Corp., PR 07-093 (May 20, 2009), aff'd sub nom. Matter of Aldeen v. Industrial Appeals Board, 82 AD3d 1220 (2nd Dept. 2011), that "[u]nless the employer produces sufficient evidence that accurately estimates the hours of its employees, it necessarily has not negated the approximate estimation of such hours reasonably inferred from the employees' evidence. It was thus the Petitioner's burden in this case to submit sufficient proof so as to provide an accurate estimate of the hours worked ... for the specific periods of their respective audits by the Commissioner." Id. at 14 (emphasis in original). Furthermore, "[a]n employer's failure to keep adequate records does not bar employees from making wage complaints. Where employee complaints demonstrate a violation of the Labor Law, DOL must credit the complainant's assertions and relevant employee statements and calculate wages due based on the information the employee has provided. The employer then bears the burden of proving that the disputed wages were paid. See Labor Law § 196-a; Angello v. National Finance Corp., 1 AD3d 850 (3d Dept. 2003)" (emphasis added). Id. at 11.

f. The Board has summarized both its own prior decisions and the relevant case law, holding that:

Accordingly, to prevail before the Board, a petitioning employer must show that the order is not reasonable by a preponderance of the evidence of the specific hours that employees worked and that employees received payment for the time that they worked or other accurate evidence that shows the Commissioner's findings to be unreasonable. In any event, "the employer cannot be heard to complain that the damages lack the exactness and precision of measurement that would be possible had he kept records." Matter of Petition of Ram Hotels, Inc. (T/A Rodeway Inn), Docket No. PR 08-078, p. 24 (October 11, 2011) (citation omitted).

g. The Claimant(s) provided clear and detailed information regarding hours worked, the agreed rate of pay and the wages paid. The Order to Comply was issued based on that information. The Respondent advised the Petitioner(s) of the claim on more than one occasion. As detailed in the Investigation Contact Log (Exhibit "B"), the Respondent requested payroll records covering the period of December 12, 2012 through December 3, 2015 numerous times from the Petitioner, Mr. Sikka. Mr. Sikka repeatedly requested additional time to "gather" the information/documents requested (see Investigation Contact Log entries dated December 12, 2015, December 16, 2015, January 4, 2016, January 13, 2016, January 14, 2016, and March 30, 2016). The Respondent repeatedly held its enforcement in abeyance in order to provide the Petitioner(s) with an opportunity to supply payment or sufficient evidence that such amounts were not due and payable to the Claimant(s). As detailed in the Investigation Narrative Report (Exhibit "A"), the Petitioner ultimately:

"...provided payroll registers for the years 2014 and 2015. This information included yearly wages, and a disclaimer stating that cash and allocated tips were not included in these amounts.

Employer failed to provide payroll records for the years 2012, and daily hours worked for the years 2013, 2014, and 2015." (Investigation Narrative Report, pg. 3) (emphasis added).

Without sufficient information from the Petitioner(s) regarding the claims, the Respondent was required, by law, to credit the statements of the Claimant(s) and proceed with its enforcement of the New York State Labor Law. As such, and based on the foregoing, such Order was valid and reasonable.

6. AS AND FOR A SECOND AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

a. "Employer" is defined by Labor Law § 190(3) as any person, corporation or association employing any individual in any occupation, industry, trade, business or service. "Employed" is defined by Labor Law § 2(7) as permitted or suffered work.

b. Labor Law § 2 states that "whenever used in this chapter" [i.e. the Labor Law as a whole]:

6. "Employer" means the person employing any such mechanic, workingman or laborer, whether the owner, proprietor, agent, superintendent, foreman or other subordinate....

8-a. "Agent" of a corporation includes but is not limited to, a manager, superintendent, foreman, supervisor or any other person employed acting in such capacity. (emphasis added).

c. The test for determining whether an entity or person is an employer under the New York Labor Law is the same test for analyzing employer status under the Fair Labor Standards Act. Chung v. The New Silver Palace Restaurant, Inc. 272 FSupp2d 314, 319 (SDNY 2003). In Herman v. RSR Sec. Servs. Ltd., 172 F3d 132, 139 (2d Cir 1999), the Second Circuit Court of Appeals states that the overarching concern is whether the alleged employer possessed the power to control the workers in question; the court explains an economic reality test using four relevant factors to determine whether an individual or entity was an employer, which include whether the alleged employer: (1) had the power to hire and fire employees; (2) supervised and controlled employees work schedules, conditions, and/or employment; (3) determined the rate and method of payment; and (4) maintained employment records.

d. Even though the Petition now alleges that the individual Petitioner, Bhupinder Singh Sikka A/K/A Gary Sikki is "not a[s] employer" [sic] as defined by the New York State Labor Law (paragraphs 50-53 of the Petition), numerous factors demonstrate that the Petitioner in this matter was an employer based on the control he had over the employees' employment. See Herman, 172 F3d at 139; Labor Law § 190(3). During the investigation of this matter, the Petitioner was identified, and on multiple occasions identified himself, as the individual who supervised employees and was responsible for paying wages.

e. Notably, the Board has ruled that an employee can have multiple employers. See In the Matter of Franbilt, Inc., PR-07-019 (July 30, 2008). Therefore, it is legally possible that the individual Petitioner and the corporate Petitioner were both employers of the employees named on the Orders.

7. AS AND FOR A THIRD AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Failure to Plead All Issues

a. Board Rule §66.3(e) states that the Petition must "state clearly and concisely the grounds on which the matter to be reviewed is alleged to be invalid or unreasonable, omitting conclusions of fact or law." The Petitioner is in violation of this rule as the Petition in this matter contains little more than conclusions of fact and law regarding the Petitioner's status as Employer, payment of wages, record-keeping and use of wage statements. As stated above, New York State Labor Law Section 101, states, "Any objections to the rule, regulation or order not raised in such appeal shall be deemed waived." The Petitioners have chosen to ignore Board Rule §66.3(e) and only allege conclusions of law and fact, rather than providing any actual law or fact that could form the basis of any objection, which is clearly in violation of this rule. Based on Labor Law, Section 101, the Petitioners are barred from asserting any other facts or theories at a hearing in this matter.

b. As the Petitioners have chosen to provide the Board and the Respondent with no factual basis for any of their conclusory allegations, the Respondent is unable to assert further affirmative defenses that may be had, depending on which facts the Petitioners ultimately assert. Should the Board permit the Petitioners to further develop the conclusions set forth in the Petition, the Respondent reserves the right to both object to any assertions of fact at a hearing in this matter pursuant to Labor Law

Section 101, as well as assert any affirmative defenses available under the law should the Board allow the Petitioners to assert facts in violation of Labor Law Section 101. The Respondent also reserves the right to demand an adjournment of any hearing in this matter should the Petitioners be allowed to assert facts (other than the general conclusions asserted in the Petition) in order to allow the Respondent the due process rights of investigating any asserted facts and preparing a defense.

8. AS AND FOR A FOURTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Interest

a. Pursuant to Labor Law § 219(1), "[i]f the commissioner determines that an employer has failed to pay wages, benefits or wage supplements required pursuant to article six, . . . the commissioner shall issue to the employer an order directing compliance therewith, which shall describe particularly the nature of the alleged violation. Such order shall direct payment of wages or supplements found to be due, including interest at the rate of interest then in effect as prescribed by the superintendent of banks pursuant to section fourteen-a of the banking law per annum from the date of the underpayment to the date of the payment." As directed by Labor Law § 219(1), the Petitioner(s) were ordered to pay 16% interest, which was the rate of interest then in effect at the time the Order to Comply was issued, on the amount of minimum wages found due and owing by the Petitioner(s).

9. AS AND FOR AN FIFTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

a. Pursuant to Labor Law § 218, “[i]f the commissioner determines that an employer has violated a provision of . . . article nineteen. . . of [the Labor Law], . . . the commissioner shall issue to the employer an order directing compliance therewith, which shall describe particularly the nature of the alleged violation. In addition to directing payment of wages, . . . such order, if issued . . . to an employer whose violation is willful or egregious, shall direct payment to the commissioner of an additional sum as a civil penalty in an amount equal to double the total amount found to be due.” (emphasis added). Section 218 also states that the Respondent may take into account the good faith of the employer, a past history of Labor Law violations, and the existence of record keeping violations along with the failure to pay wages. Here, the 100% civil penalty for the Petitioner(s)’s violation of Labor Law § 652 was half of the 200% maximum amount that could have been issued under § 218.

b. The 100% civil penalty was based on the following: the size of the business, the good faith of the Petitioner(s), the gravity of the monetary violation, the prior history of labor law violations, and the non-wage and record keeping violations disclosed during the investigation. In particular, the Petitioners have a prior history of failing to pay wages in 2009, 2011 and 2015, which required the Respondent’s intervention on numerous occasions. The Petitioners do not possess full payroll records for the entire period of time required (six years).

c. Additionally, regarding the Penalty Order, Labor Law § 218 states that "where the violation is for a reason other than the employer's failure to pay wages, benefits or wage supplements found to be due, the order shall direct payment to the commissioner of a civil penalty in an amount not to exceed one thousand dollars for a first violation, two thousand dollars for a second violation or three thousand dollars for a third or subsequent violation." The Petitioner(s) was ordered to pay $3,000.00 as a civil penalty for the violation of the Labor Law by failing to keep and/or furnish payroll records; $2,000.00 for failing to furnish to each employee a statement with every payment of wages; and $800.00 for failing to furnish each employee at the start of employment written notice in English and any other language spoken by the new employee of the employee's regular hourly rate of pay, overtime rate, amount of tip credit, if taken and the regular payday. Each of the civil penalties imposed for Counts 1, 2, and 3 were within the limits imposed by § 218.

10. AS AND FOR A SIXTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

Liquidated Damages

a. Section 198(1-a) of the Labor Law provides that "the commissioner shall "assess against the employer" the full amount of any such underpayment, and "an additional amount as liquidated damages . . . Liquidated damages shall be calculated by the commissioner as no more than one hundred percent of the total amount of wages found to be due."

See also, Labor Law § 663(2).

b. Here, the Respondent issued liquidated damages in the amount of 100%, which is the maximum amount of liquidated damages that could have been issued.

11. AS AND FOR A SEVENTH AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSE

a. Pursuant to Labor Law § 101(2), a "petition shall be filed with the board in accordance with such rules as the board shall prescribe, and shall state the rule, regulation, or order proposed to be reviewed and in what respects it is claimed to be invalid or unreasonable. Any objections to the rule, regulation or order not raised in such appeal shall be deemed waived." Therefore, any objections to the October 11, 2016 Order to Comply that were not raised in the Petition should be deemed waived, and the Petitioner(s) should be barred from raising any additional arguments or objections at the hearing, aside from those included in the Petition.

WHEREFORE, the Respondent requests that the Industrial Board of Appeals issue a Resolution of Decision dismissing the Petition herein in all respects, together with such other, further and different relief as may be deemed just and proper.
